How disposable income is calculated

“Disposable income” has a specific definition for the purpose of this program. Per RCW 84.36.383(6), “disposable income” is adjusted gross income as defined in the federal internal revenue code, plus all the following that were not included in, or were deducted from your adjusted gross income:

- Capital gains, other than a gain on the sale of a principal residence that is reinvested in a new principal residence.
- Amounts deducted for losses or depreciation.
- Pensions and annuities.

- Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits.
- Military pay and benefits other than attendant-care and medical-aid payments.
- Veterans pay and benefits other than attendant-care, medical-aid payments, VA Disability benefits and DIC.
- Dividends received.
- Interest received on state and municipal bonds.

These incomes are included in “disposable income” even when it is not taxable for IRS purposes.

* Note: All amounts deducted for loss, including Capital Loss, are not allowed to be included to offset gains for the purpose of this program. In other words, all gains must be counted as income, and losses are not considered per RCW 84.36.383 (6.a-b).

How combined disposable income is calculated:

Per RCW 84.36.383(1) “combined disposable income” is your disposable income plus the disposable income of your spouse/domestic partner and any co-tenants, minus expenses for you and your spouse/domestic partner.
