According to the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence, an average of 20 people experience intimate partner physical violence every minute. About one in four women, and one in seven men have experienced severe physical violence by an intimate partner. These distressing statistics indicate that domestic violence is far more common than we may realize, as many tend to suffer in silence. Help is available to those effected by domestic violence.

There are many resources for you to contact if you are in a domestically violent situation to discuss your options for safety. One option is to call 9-1-1 if you feel that immediate police intervention is necessary.
