CHINS FAQ's

Why should I get a CHINS petition?

To obtain a court order mandating temporary placement of the child in a residence other than the home of their parent because: a serious conflict exists between the parent and child that cannot be resolved by delivery of services to the family during continued placement of the child in the parental home, and reasonable efforts have been made to prevent the need for removal of the child from the parental home.

Does the youth qualify?

A child in need of services is defined by statute as a child under the age of 18 who meets at least one of the following three requirements:

1. Is beyond parental control such that the child's behavior endangers the health, safety, or welfare of the child or other person; OR
2. Has been reported to law enforcement as absent without consent for at least 24 consecutive hours from the parent's home, a crisis residential center, an out-of-home placement, or a court-ordered placement on two or more separate occasions; and
Has exhibited a serious substance abuse problem; or
Has exhibited behaviors that create a serious risk of harm to the health, safety, or welfare of the child or any other person; OR
3. Is in need of necessary services, including food, shelter health care, clothing, educational, or services designed to maintain or reunite the family; and
Lacks access to or has declined to utilize these services; and
Whose parents have evidenced continuing but unsuccessful efforts to maintain the family structure or are unable or unwilling to continue efforts to maintain the family structure.

Who can file a petition?

A child, parent, or DCYF may file a CHINS petition. A "parent" is defined as the person(s) having legal right to custody of the child and includes custodian or guardian.

What do I need to do to get the process started?

Contact your local Family Reconciliation Services (FRS) office at DCYF and request an appointment for intake and assessment. At the conclusion of this meeting, the intake caseworker will prepare a Family Assessment. Request a copy of the family assessment and attach it to the petition prior to filing. The Court must have a copy of the FRS assessment before proceeding with the petition.

Family Reconciliation Services (FRS)
1-800-609-8764 Days, 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
1-800-562-5624 After hours, 4:30 p.m. - 8 a.m.

Where do I file the petition?

Petitions must be filed in the Court Clerk's Office (Room 3161) at the Clark Children and Family Justice Center (1211 E. Alder St., Seattle) or at the Court Clerk's Office (2nd floor, Rm 2C) at the Regional Justice Center (401 - 4th Ave. N, Kent). You may file Monday-Friday 8:30-4:30, no appointment is necessary. Petitions can be filed at either location, but hearings will occur in the courthouse corresponding to the zip code the parent resides in. Generally, Seattle, Eastside and North King County cases will be heard in Seattle and South King County cases will be heard in Kent. Note: Clerks Offices are closed for lunch from 12:15 – 1:15 M-F.

Are there any costs?

There is no cost to file a petition or for the FRS Family Assessment; however, there may be a cost for the attorney that is appointed for your child; for more information, please ask a case manager (see below).

The parent shall be financially responsible for costs related to the court-ordered plan (counseling, drug/alcohol evaluations/treatment, mental health evaluations, etc.).

Whenever the court approves an out-of-home placement, the court shall inquire into the ability of the parents to contribute to the child's support. If the court finds that the parents are able to contribute to the support of the child, the court shall order them to make support payments. However, a parent who has BOTH opposed the placement and continuously sought reconciliation with, and return of the child shall NOT be financially responsible for out-of-home placement costs.

Who can I contact if I need assistance during the petition process?

If you need more assistance you may call a case manager: Karen Chapman for Seattle, Eastside, or North King County addresses at (206) 477-4946 or Amy Andree at (206) 477-2759 for all South King County addresses.

How do I need to inform the youth about the court date?

To be properly served, a nonparty, over the age of eighteen, must have handed a party a copy of the documents that are coming before the court. After the server delivers the court papers to the opposing party, the server should complete the Declaration of Service form. That form requires the server to make a sworn statement to the court (under oath) that s/he served the party with the necessary court papers. The server should date and sign the Declaration of Service at the bottom and return it to the party requesting his/her services. That form constitutes "proof of service" and must be brought to the hearing.

Since this is a court proceeding, are there attorneys?

The child is automatically assigned a court-appointed attorney for all hearings. Under a CHINS proceeding, a court-appointed attorney may be provided for the parent if s/he meets the financial requirements as determined by the Department of Public Defense (DPD). It is the responsibility of the parent to undergo financial screening with DPD. A parent always has the right to obtain an attorney at their own expense.

Are interpreters available if someone does not speak English?

If an interpreter is necessary, let the Clerk's office know at the time of filing. At a minimum, provide your name, the child's name, and the language requested.. King County Superior Court will pay for all interpreter services during court hearings. King County Superior Court will pay for all interpreter services.

What kinds of things can the Court order?

DCYF Shall

- review the case to determine the appropriateness of filing a dependency petition under RCW 13.34

Child Shall

- be placed or remain for a period not to exceed 180 days in an out-of –home placement

Placement Shall

- have full power to authorize and provide all necessary educational, routine and emergency medical, dental or psychological care as recommended by the child's treating doctor.
- report to the parents and to the court within 24 hours as to any unauthorized leave from placement.

What happens if a party does not follow the court order?

Failure by any party to comply with a court order is contempt of court. Violations of the court order should be reported to the court through the filing of a contempt motion. A contempt motion may be filed by a parent, a child or a person/agency having custody of the child. If the court makes a finding of contempt at a contempt hearing, the court may impose coercive sanctions, such as research papers or community service hours or other interventions to address behaviors.

Do not wait for a scheduled review hearing to report violations of the court's orders. An appointment with a case manager is necessary to file a contempt motion and must be served to the other party at least 5 business days prior to the hearing.

What should we do if our situation is urgent/crisis and we can not wait for a court date?

Child in Need of Services (CHINS) Petitions-Summary

Parents, legal guardians, youth or DCYF social workers may file petitions with the Juvenile Court to ask for assistance with children who are running away, using drugs or alcohol, are generally out of the control of their parents and in need of necessary services such as an out-of-home placement. Filing a CHINS is a last resort option after a number of other interventions and services have been tried to hold the family together. Blank petitions are kept in the Clerk's Office in Room 3161 of the Clark Children and Family Justice Center in Seattle (1211 E. Alder St.) or Room 2C at the Regional Justice Center in Kent (401 4th Avenue N.). Generally, petitions can be filed at either location. Cases are heard in the courthouse that corresponds to the zip code in which the parent or legal guardian resides. Seattle, Eastside and North King County cases are heard in Seattle and South King County cases are heard in Kent. This petition may be filed without assistance from Juvenile Court personnel. Petitioner must contact Family Reconciliation Services for a family assessment prior to completing a petition at 1-800-609-8764. In general, most cases follow this process:

Step 1:

Contact Family Reconciliation Services for a Family Assessment. Family Reconciliation Services may offer in-home counseling to families in crisis for free in order to avoid the need to go to court.

Step 2:

Complete a Child In Need of Services Petition. File your completed petition with the Clerk's Office, along with the Family Assessment. You will be given a date and time for the fact-finding (trial). The other parties will need to be legally served with the hearing date and petition. (Instructions below)

Step 3:

Attend the Fact-Finding Hearing with all parties. The judge or commissioner will decide whether the child is, according to the law, a child in need of services. After they decide this, they will ask the parties and social service professionals what should happen next. An order will be issued that requires the child, and possibly the parent/guardian, to take some action. You will be given a new court date for parties to return for a Review Hearing.

Step 4:

Attend a Review Hearing with your child. The judge or commissioner will ask the parent/guardian, the child, and social service professionals to discuss what progress has been made on what the court has ordered. Some changes may be made to the order at this time.

Step 5:

If necessary, file a Motion for Contempt. If you believe a party is not obeying the court order, and would like to court to take action, you may file a motion for a contempt hearing with a case manager. At this hearing, parties will have an opportunity to talk about what happened and why. You will also be asked how you would like the court to respond.

Filing A Child In Need of Services (CHINS) Petition

- Contact Family Reconciliation Services at 1-800-609-8764 (daytime) or 1-800-562-5624 (after hours) to get a family assessment. This assessment is required for filing a petition.
- Get a blank Child in Need of Services petition at the Clerk's Office Room 3161 of the Clark Children and Family Justice Center or Room 2C at the Regional Justice Center in Kent or call a case manager (see phone numbers below), and ask for a packet to be mailed to you. Complete the petition in your own words. You will be asked to explain the conflict in the home, how you have tried to change this behavior, and how you would like to court to respond. You may complete this petition without help from anyone in the courthouse.
- When you have completed the petition, bring it to the Clerk's Office, in your area for filing. You will be given a court date.
- If you would like an interpreter for your court hearing, please inform the clerk before you leave the clerk's office.
- Have someone 18 years old or older, other than you, serve the other party with the petition and the court date. This person, the server, must complete the required service paperwork so you can prove that the other party was properly served.

If you have questions about filing a petition, contact the case manager assigned to your child's school district:

Clark Children and Family Justice Center (Seattle): Karen Chapman, 206-477-4946

Child in Need of Services Fact-Finding Hearing

- A fact-finding hearing is the first court hearing in the CHINS petition process. A judge or commissioner will decide whether your child is child in need of services, according to the law.
- The hearing may be heard when you arrive, or you may have to wait for several hours before you can go into the courtroom. There are several reasons for this, including how busy the court is that day and whether other families arrived before you. You may want to bring a book or a magazine with you to read while you wait.
- At your hearing, the judge or commissioner will hear from you, your child, and social service professionals about your case. You should be prepared to explain why you would like this petition to be granted, what behaviors your child has been engaging in, and what you think the court should do about it. It is helpful to come prepared to address your child's curfew, school attendance and grades, services you have tried in the past, and services you would like to try.
- Your child will have an attorney at this hearing. This attorney will be representing your child's wishes, which may not be the same as your wishes.
- If the judge or commissioner agrees that your child is in need of necessary services, a court order will be issued with requirements for your child, and possibly you. A DCYF Social Worker will be assigned to your case.
- A date for a review hearing will be given to you before you leave the courtroom.

If you have questions about filing a petition, contact the case manager assigned to your child's school district:

Clark Children and Family Justice Center (Seattle): Karen Chapman, 206-477-4946
(Seattle, Vashon, Bellevue, Issaquah, Lake Washington, Mercer Island, Northshore, Riverview, Shoreline, Skykomish, & Snoqualmie school districts)

Maleng Regional Justice Center (Kent): Amy Andree 206-477-2759
(Kent, Renton, Tukwila, Tahoma, Highline, Federal Way, Auburn & Enumclaw school districts)

Child In Need of Services Review Hearing

- At the review hearing, the judge or commissioner will hear from you, your child, and social service professionals about the progress being made on what the court has ordered.
- You must arrive at court by the time listed in your court order. As soon as you enter the building, you will pass through a security area with a metal detector. Do not bring weapons of any kind to the courthouse. Sign in at the front desk so that the court knows that you and your child have arrived.
- Your hearing may be heard as soon as you arrive, or you may have to wait for several hours before you can go into the courtroom. There are several reasons for this, including how busy the court is that day and whether other families arrived before you. You may want to bring a book or a magazine with you to read while you wait.
- Changes may be made to the court order based on what the judge or commissioner hears during the hearing. No sanctions will be ordered during a review hearing.
- Before you leave the courtroom, another court date will be given to you.

Child In Need of Services Contempt Hearing

- If you believe that your child is not obeying the court order, and you would like the court to take action, you must file a motion for a contempt hearing.
- You will need help from someone in the Juvenile Courthouse to complete this paperwork. Please contact the case manager at the courthouse in which your case was heard to arrange an appointment for this. Listen to their messages for open office hours.
- At the contempt hearing, the judge or commissioner will decide whether the child has violated the court order. If he or she has, the court may issue sanctions in order to make sure that order will not be violated again.
- You must arrive at court by the time listed in your court order. As soon as you enter the building, you will pass through a security area with a metal detector. Do not bring weapons of any kind to the courthouse. Sign in at the front desk so that the court knows that you and your child have arrived.
