LANGUAGE ASSISTANCE PLAN (LAP)

I. PURPOSE

This document serves as the plan for King County Superior Court to provide timely and reasonable language access services for all limited English proficient (LEP), deaf, hard of hearing, and deaf-blind (D/HH/DB) individuals who come in contact with King County Superior Court sites: The King County Courthouse (KCCH), Involuntary Treatment Act Court (ITA) and the Clark Children and Family Justice Center (CCFJC) in Seattle, and the Maleng Regional Justice Center (MRJC) in Kent.

II. COURT POLICY REGARDING LANGUAGE ACCESS SERVICES

A. Under Washington state law (chapters 2.42 and 2.43 RCW), Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Title VI), the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (Safe Streets Act), the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and the regulations implementing these federal laws, Washington courts are required to provide language access services to all LEP and D/HH/DB individuals in civil and criminal court proceedings and all court-managed services and programs and, pursuant to RCW 2.43.090, to develop a written language access plan.

B. It is the policy of King County Superior Court to provide at no cost to LEP individuals, timely and reasonable language assistance services in all court proceedings and operations, both civil and criminal, other than when it is the responsibility of other government bodies pursuant to state law. In all other instances, certified, registered or qualified interpretation services<sup>1</sup> will be provided free of charge to (a) LEP parties, witnesses or victims; (b) LEP parents, legal guardians, or custodians of minor children who are parties, witnesses, or victims; and (c) LEP legal guardians or custodian of adult parties, witnesses, or victims. It is also the policy of this court to provide sign language interpreting services at no cost to persons who are D/HH/DB as required under applicable state and federal statutes and regulations.

C. Although D/HH/DB individuals are covered under the ADA and chapter 2.42 RCW rather than Title VI and the Safe Streets Act, this plan covers language access services for both D/HH/DB and LEP individuals.

<sup>1</sup> Washington State Administrative Office of the Court offers credentials in 13 certified languages and over 80 registered languages. Not all languages are certified or registered.

III. NEEDS ASSESSMENT

In addition, there are various points of contact within King County Superior Court where LEP individuals or persons who are D/HH/DB will be in contact with court staff.

To ensure the LEP and D/HH/DB individuals are able to properly identify their language needs and to request language access and assistance services, the following points of contact and sources of information assist in this regard:

1. Identifying Language Needs at Points of Access

To ensure the earliest possible identification of the need for language access services, the King County Superior Court has established internal communication protocols with those justice partners who routinely interact with the court. While our justice partners may be under a separate legal obligation to provide language access service to their clients, they will also notify the court as early as possible of any services they believe may be the court's responsibility so services may be provided in a timely and efficient manner.

2. Notice of the Availability of Language Access Services

In order to facilitate the ability of LEP and D/HH/DB individuals to request their need for language access services, the King County Superior Court will provide notice of availability of language access services translated into the most frequently used languages that states:

"You have the right to language access services at no cost to you. To request these services, please contact The Office of Interpreter Services at 206-477-1415 or scinterp@kingcounty.gov."

This notice will be displayed on the court website and at all key points of contact at all courthouse locations. In addition, the following resources are available at key points of contact in all courthouses to help LEP and D/HH/DB and court staff communicate with each other.

- Language identification cards
- Multi-lingual notices advising of the right to request an interpreter or other language assistance.
- Language specific informational kiosks in the top six requested languages

If it appears that an individual is experiencing communication difficulties, staff will make efforts to inform them of available language access services and that these services are provided at no cost to them.

3. King County Superior Court will work with King County FMD to seek courthouse wayfinding signage in a variety of appropriate languages, and will seek to provide similar information on the KC Superior Court webpages.

V. LANGUAGE ACCESS SERVICES

Once King County Superior Court staff has determined that interpreter services are required for an LEP or D/HH/DB individual, court staff will use the following procedures for securing an interpreter.

A. Language Access Services Inside the Court Room

1. Appointment of a Certified, Registered, or Qualified Interpreter for In-Court Proceedings

The Office of Interpreter Services is responsible for securing the assistance of an interpreter at the King County Superior Court and will comply with the following order of preference in selecting an interpreter for appointment by the court, as set forth in RCW 2.43.030(1) (b) and (2).

A. When a LEP person is a party to a legal proceeding, or is subpoenaed or summoned by an appointing authority or is otherwise compelled to appear at a legal proceeding, the interpreter shall be certified or registered by the administrative office of the courts, unless good cause is found and noted on the record by the judge or court commissioner. "Good cause" includes, but is not limited to, a determination that:

- (i) given the totality of the circumstances, including the nature of the proceeding and the potential penalty or consequences involved, the services of a certified or registered interpreter are not reasonably available to the appointing authority; or
- (ii) the current list of certified or registered interpreters maintained by the administrative office of the courts does not include an interpreter certified in the language spoken by the LEP person.

B. When a LEP person is involved in a legal proceeding not covered by A. the judge or commissioner shall appoint a certified interpreter or a qualified interpreter, as defined in RCW 2.43.020(5) as may be amended.

C. If good cause is found for using an interpreter who is not certified or registered, or if a qualified interpreter is appointed, the judge or commissioner shall make a preliminary determination that the proposed interpreter is able to interpret accurately all communications to and from the LEP person in that particular proceeding. The judge or commissioner shall satisfy itself on the record that the proposed interpreter:

- (i) is capable of communicating effectively with the court or agency and the person for who the interpreter would interpret; and
- (ii) has read, understands, and will abide by the code of professional responsibility for language interpreters established by court rules.

In the event no in-person interpreter is available locally, the court or designated authority will weigh the need for moving forward with the proceeding against any possible negative consequences to the LEP or D/HH/DB person's ability to effectively participate in the proceedings through the use of a remote interpreter, as may be allowed by Washington court rule or law. When evidentiary matters are before the court, the court shall reschedule the hearing until an in-person interpreter is available, whether located in state or out of state, and be made present at the hearing.

King County Superior Court will not appoint as interpreters anyone with a known potential conflict of interest in the case, including the following: minors; friends and family of the LEP or D/HH/DB person; advocates and attorneys; justice partner bilingual staff; or anyone deemed unqualified after voir dire by the court.

2. Practices in the Appointment and Use of Interpreters

In appointing interpreters, King County Superior Court staff will ensure that the interpreter and the LEP or D/HH/DB participant can effectively communicate. It is also practice to:

- Make a determination of the appropriate number of interpreters that may be required for the proceeding. When the proper administration of justice so requires, the court will appoint multiple or separate interpreters.
- For long hearing sessions or trials, appoint a team of two interpreters or if no second interpreter is available, allow the interpreter to have frequent breaks to avoid interpreter fatigue, ensure accuracy, and avoid subsequent errors.
- Allow the LEP or D/HH/DB person to waive their right to the assistance of an interpreter only if such waiver is knowing, voluntary, and on the record. The waiver of an interpreter may be rejected by the court or later revoked by the person.
- Require interpreters to provide some limited sight translations for forms related to the court proceedings when appropriate.
- Prohibit interpreters from assisting LEP or D/HH/DB with entering information on court forms without the involvement of court staff in the completion of such forms.

- Provide sign language interpreters for jurors who are D/HH/DB when such persons are called and selected for jury service.

3. Calendaring and Scheduling of Interpreters

King County Superior Court will provide interpreter services in a timely manner. In order to provide high quality language access services in an efficient manner, the court employs the following practices:

- Batching of matters for which an interpreter for a specific language is needed so long as this does not cause unnecessary delays in access and loss of remedies available to litigants.
- Coordinating calendars so an interpreter may be available for several matters in the same court location on the same day.
- Establishing systems of interpreter coordination and scheduling for efficient dispatch and use of interpreters
- Creating a pool of interpreters who may be available by telephone or video to assist in non-evidentiary proceeding or other court programs.

4. Remote Interpreting

For short non-evidentiary hearings, the King County Superior Court uses the following remote interpreter technologies:

- Telephonic interpreting provided by credentialed interpreters
- Telephonic interpreting agencies
- Video-remote interpreting (VRI)

The policy or practice of the court with regard to the use of remote interpreting services is as follows:

- Video remote and telephonic interpreting use will be consistent with GR 11.3 and will be used with caution.
- In-person interpreting is the strong preference under this policy. Telephonic interpreting for a courtroom proceeding should only be done when necessity requires. Its use should be reserved for brief non-evidentiary proceedings.
- Video remote interpreting (VRI) will be used appropriately and conducted in such a manner as to provide for effective communication.

B. Language Services Outside the Courtroom

The King County Superior Court is responsible for taking reasonable steps to ensure that LEP and D/HH/DB individuals have meaningful access to court-managed services, programs and operations consistent with state and federal language access mandates. In compliance with such mandates, the court shall provide language access for services such as:

- Court ordered Alternative Dispute Resolution Programs
- Dependency CASA programs

- Cashiers
- Court facilitator services
- Dependency 101 classes
- Drug Court (intakes, check-ins, graduations)
- Family Law Orientation classes
- Information counters
- Juvenile detention and diversion programs
- Family Law Parenting Seminar
- Housing Justice Intake
- Protection Office interviews
- Family Court Services – social worker interviews

The court, in compliance with federal and state civil rights laws and regulations, shall provide the most appropriate language access service for these programs and services, including qualified interpreters, bilingual staff, and translated forms and documents (as described in subsection C. below). When the most appropriate language access service is the appointment of a qualified interpreter, the court shall follow the guidelines described for the appointment of interpreters.

C. Translated Forms and Documents

The King County Superior Court understands the importance of translating forms, documents and electronic materials into non-English languages so that LEP individuals have greater access to the courts' services. Trial Court Improvement funds are routinely used to further this important work.

When translated forms are not available the court may:

- Provide sight translation of the form using bilingual staff
- Provide information regarding the content of the form using bilingual staff
- Provide an in-person interpreter sight translate the form
- Refer LEP party to a community resource
- Use telephonic interpreting
