

of homelessness in King County. One Table is chaired by King County Executive Dow Constantine, Auburn Mayor Nancy Backus, and Seattle Mayor Jenny Durkan. Workgroups for One Table include: Community Action Workgroups (CAW), Elected Leadership Group (ELG), Civic Leadership Group (CLG), and Leaders with Lived Experiences (LLE). More details can be found in the meeting materials.

Next, Kelly Rider presented recommendations emphasizing the Racial Justice and Equity Principles which included: 1) Prioritize services for populations at-risk of homelessness, including people exiting behavioral health treatment, 2) Support workforce training in harm reduction models and trauma-informed care, and 3) Recruit and retain workforce that represents being served by, funding programs that employ workers with lived experiences. More details can be found in the meeting materials.

Questions:

Kailey Fiedler-Gohlke asked whether the metrics reflects a measurement on homelessness who are seeking re-entry into the system. Kelly Rider answered that there were limitations on reflecting measurements on homelessness and will follow up with the team on details.

Michele Meaker asked if there was data captured to reflect domestic violence. Kelly Rider indicated domestic violence data was not being captured.

Shua Walla asked will the community be informed of One Table's progress of work. Kelly Rider will follow up.

Helen Stephens asked if there is a strategic approach on the partnership between business and King County on the One Table overview. Kelly Rider indicated there is no solid answer at this point. The discussion is still ongoing within the scope of work.

Public Comment

Peggy Dolane, a community member gave a brief introduction of herself including her background and involvement in supporting families, children and youth mental health. Peggy Dolane expressed dissatisfaction with the currently available services and asked King County to improve its' focus on children and youth behavioral health services.

Adjourned

1:45PM

Next meeting

Thursday, January 24, 2019, 12:15-1:45 p.m., Chinook Room 121/123