Veterans, Seniors & Human Services Levy

Veterans, Seniors and Human Services Levy (VSHSL)

King County is moving forward to renew the Veterans, Seniors and Human Services Levy (VSHSL) for 2024-2029.

The VSHSL expires at the end of 2023. King County is asking voters to consider levy renewal on the August 2023 ballot.

This booklet presents a high-level overview of the levy's accomplishments over the years, and lays a foundation for the next VSHSL. The priorities and investment areas detailed here are contingent upon the implementation plan that would be considered and adopted by the King County Council, if voters renew the Veterans, Seniors and Human Services Levy.

SUCCESS STORY

Michael

Michael, a 67-year-old veteran who served in Vietnam, found KCVP while staying at a shelter for people experiencing homelessness. After finding permanent housing through KCVP, Michael mentioned to his Social Service Professional that he was experiencing severe pain in his mouth that had contributed to significant weight loss. Not only had he been unable to chew on one side of his mouth for nearly two years, but he was also unable to find a program that was able to help in that time. Through the KCVP Wellness Fund, a program launched in 2022 to support veterans, service members, and their families with medical and behavioral health costs, Michael was able to have the critically needed dental work performed by a dental office of his choosing.

Sandy

Sandy came to a levy-funded partner to begin treatment for military sexual trauma. At the beginning of treatment, Sandy had a hard time getting out of her house and going anywhere. Sandy steadily advanced from individual therapy to a women veterans' therapy group, then to a mixed gender therapy group for support, understanding, and healing. She suffered some setbacks along the way. Nevertheless, her resiliency championed again, and little by little, she began to recover. She is getting out on her own again and socializing, as well as participating in activities that are meaningful for her. She still has some symptoms, but she is living life on her own terms.

More than 260 veterans, servicemembers, and family members accessed more than 15,000 mental health counseling sessions.

Keep Reducing Veteran Homelessness

The levy connects federal and state resources with local veterans and housing to reduce homelessness. If renewed, the VSHSL levy will further reduce veteran homelessness by creating at least 70 dedicated affordable housing units for veterans, making permanent the Collaborative Case Management pilot program, and funding housing navigators to assist people in their affordable housing search.

- Contributed to a 40% reduction in veteran households experiencing homelessness in King County between 2017 and 2022.
- Built 234 units of permanent supportive housing for veterans and their families.
- Launched the first-in-the-nation Collaborative Case Management pilot program that helped more than 100 homeless veterans and their families move into permanent housing.

SUCCESS STORY

Allison

Allison served as a U.S. Marine between 2017-2019. However, upon her discharge from service, she found herself in a vulnerable living situation. After a domestic violence incident, she became homeless and began staying in shelters and hotels. Eventually, Allison was screened by Veterans Administration staff and placed in transitional housing. She was then connected with KCVP where they referred and approved her for a Collaborative Case Management housing voucher. Allison moved into her new apartment in December 2021 and recently renewed her lease for another year. Allison's newfound stability has contributed to a cascade effect of health benefits, including one-on-one counseling, an opportunity to resolve long overdue medical needs, and a renewed potential to seek out employment opportunities.

Nate

A call to the Veterans Crisis Line was the beginning of Nate's journey home. After fleeing domestic violence at home, Nate found himself experiencing homelessness in King County. Through the combined arms approach of the KCVP and Supportive Services for Veteran Families (SSVF), Nate was connected to case managers of both programs when visiting KCVP. As the KCVP Social Service Professional worked quickly to connect Nate's family to the KCVP Collaborative Case Management program, SSVF coordinated temporary shelter to ensure he would not sleep on the street. Over the next two months the programs worked together to help Nate receive a housing voucher, apply and pay move-in costs for an apartment, and purchase furniture. Nate continues to thrive with a permanent place to call home.

"[KCVP] and Supportive Services for Veteran Families have helped me through one of the darkest times of my life. I do not have the words to explain how grateful I am."

Making King County Age-Inclusive; Double Funding for Senior Centers

The levy will reinforce senior services that made a difference in the pandemic, strengthen and sustain senior center programming to provide social connection, and invest in green energy improvements like heat pumps, solar panels, and air filtration that help senior centers reduce their carbon footprint, cut utility bills, and provide refuge in extreme weather. The VSHSL recognizes the essential role of senior centers in our community and will help them become even more accessible and sustainable for the long term.

What we've done:

- Served more than 100,000 seniors.
- Funded 39 senior centers to serve more than 28,000 seniors each year since the program launched in 2020.
- Accelerated senior centers' transformation into an inclusive network of geographically and culturally representative spaces, reflective of the diverse populations in King County.

SUCCESS STORIES

Inclusive Programming

South Park Senior Citizens, partnering with AgePRIDE and GenPride, recently launched LGBTQIA+ inclusionary activities that will provide for sensitive programming and a safe place of belonging for all seniors in the community.

Culturally Responsive Services

When the pandemic hit, senior centers and hubs like the Chinese Information and Service Center used levy funds to provide home-bound or isolated older adults with technology and instruction on how to participate in virtual classes.

Adaptive Service Delivery

After the COVID-19 pandemic hit in early 2020, the Eritrean Association in Greater Seattle adapted their community meal program by delivering food to home-bound elders.

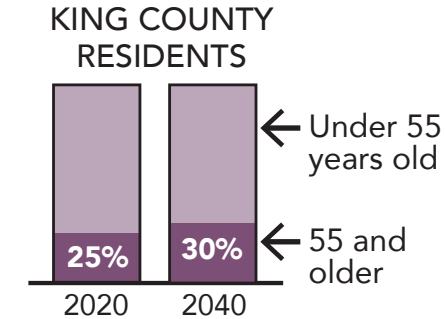

Fostering Connection

Three Mondays per month, Spanish speaking seniors gather and socialize at the Far East Senior Hub senior centers. They share stories, laugh, make friends, and eat lunch together. The programming brings seniors together to foster cultural community connections

"I've greatly enjoyed getting to interact with others of my age in wonderful activities."

– Magdalena, a Far East Senior Hub participant

25% of King County residents were aged 55 or older in 2020. This proportion is expected to increase to 30% by 2040.

As the population of older adults increases statewide, so does the population of older adults from racially and ethnically diverse communities or backgrounds.

The VSHSL launched a language services program to support community partners in translating program materials and providing interpreter services to clients.

Strengthen Communities and Build Resiliency; Deepen Investments in Critical Workforce

The pandemic reminds us that human services workers are essential. When many parts of the economy shut down, the need for human services programs like domestic violence advocacy, rent assistance, and shelter increased. The region's vibrancy requires an effective and sustainable human services workforce that can prevent crises and help solve them in real time. The levy plays a critical role in investing in the people who support those in need, make our communities a place where people can thrive, and ensure human services are accessible, effective, and equitable.

- Funded 675 bonuses to 55 agencies

SUCCESS STORY

Mary (not her real name)

After fleeing a domestic violence situation, Mary and her 2-year-old child were sleeping in her car in severe heat. This situation also triggered post-traumatic stress disorder symptoms from the trauma and distress. The staff at Muslimahs Against Abuse Center (MAAC) sprung to action to quickly arrange temporary housing, while also developing and implementing a plan to provide one-on-one support and weekly check-ins to help her access resources, apply for benefits, and build independence. Today, Mary has a full-time job and an apartment in a community of her choice, with access to a preschool for her child. Mary regularly calls MAAC to give positive feedback for how much the support has changed her life for the better.

Help build more than 1,000 units of affordable housing and 198 new shelter beds.

Between mid-2021 and September 2022, DVHopeline received 16,000 calls or texts and referred nearly 7,000 of those callers to additional support.

Funded mobile advocacy services for more than 1,200 survivors of gender-based violence from January 2020 through September 2022, a trauma-informed approach designed to follow survivors across a wide range of needs from the moment they reach out for assistance. 84% of those survivors were connected to an advocate within one day of reaching out to an organization.

“By increasing our knowledge and visibility, we have been able to serve a larger number of clients.”

– Community Partner Organization

Results from VSHSL-funded nonprofit wage survey show underinvestment in human services, lack of sustainable wages in nonprofit sector.

Survey results reinforce the need for funders and community providers to address the problem.

60% of surveyed staff would consider leaving the nonprofit sector to get better pay. 54% would consider leaving the nonprofit sector because of burnout or other fatigue.

Nationally, turnover in nonprofits is 19%, compared to 12% for all industries.

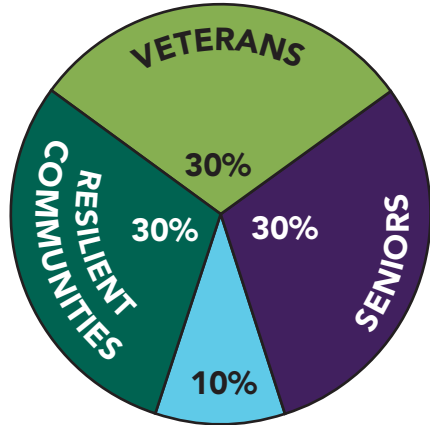

Low wages perpetuate inequities for women and BIPOC communities who make up a disproportionate number of social service staff.

Inflation, as of October 2021, was 6.2%. Overall, the median salary increase budget was 3% that year.
