The business of the Committee is subject to the Public Records Act, which means communications regarding Committee matters are subject to public disclosure. Non-public officials have been assigned King County email addresses, listed in the fourth column. When communicating with non-public officials about Committee business, always copy their King County email address. In addition, if you are a non-public official, be sure to copy your assigned King County email address on communications about Committee business. This will assist our public records officer in searching and locating any pertinent emails requested by the public.
