

Hazardous Materials

Electronic equipment may contain lead, mercury, cadmium, brominated flame retardants and other toxic materials that can cause harm to human health and the environment. These products need to be managed properly. Take it Back Network members provide environmentally responsible recycling/disposal services.

Disposal Bans

Computer monitors, TVs or any other device containing cathode ray tubes, are prohibited from disposal in the garbage or at City of Seattle and King County transfer stations.

Cell phones are prohibited from disposal in the garbage or at King County transfer stations.

Other Recycling Options

E-Cycle Washington is a statewide recycling program that is provided by the manufacturers that make the electronic devices.

Small businesses, residents, schools, not-for-profit organizations can recycle the following products at no cost:

- computers, laptops and tablets
- monitors
- TVs
- portable DVD players

To recycle more than ten items with the E-Cycle Washington program, call 1-866-779-6632 to make arrangements.
