King County plans to replace the Fremont Siphon with new pipelines located under the Lake Washington Ship Canal. You are invited to an open house on March 26 to review design options for the facility site in Fremont. These design options were developed using community input from a design workshop in January. Stop by anytime between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. At the open house you can:

- Learn how community input was used to shape landscape, architecture and other site elements
- Review two design options for the Fremont site
- Provide your input on these options
- Hear an update on the public art process
- Learn about next steps
