Check out the Clean Water Plan webinar recording

On March 25, 2020, we hosted our webinar for the Clean Water Plan: “Wastewater Treatment: Realities & Reinvestment.” For those who participated, we hope this webinar was informative and helped you learn more about:

- The current realities facing the region’s wastewater system
- Community priorities and important factors in long-term planning for our regional wastewater system
- The Clean Water Plan process: what’s been done and what’s next

We hope you’ll continue to be part of the conversation around the Clean Water Plan in the coming months. We had a lot of great questions from participants and we’ll incorporate your questions and feedback into our planning efforts.

For those of you who missed the webinar, recordings are available in English and Spanish on the Clean Water Plan website, kingcounty.gov/CleanWaterPlan. You will also find a copy of our presentation slides in our project library.

If you have questions we couldn’t get to in the webinar, send us an email at CleanWaterPlan@kingcounty.gov

What’s Next

Stayed tuned for notifications later this spring about opportunities to provide comments during the scoping process for the environmental impact statement that King County anticipates preparing for the Clean Water Plan. Your scoping comments will help inform the different topics and issues evaluated in the environmental impact statement in accordance with Washington’s State Environmental Policy Act (SEPA).

Get updates on this process by joining our mailing list on our project website.
